

Happy holidays, everyone, and welcome to A Very GNV Holiday Parade! My name is Jay Anderson, assistant to the president of Santa Fe College, and I'm your announcer today.

As we wait for the parade to reach us, we're being entertained by Smooth Flava, a line dancing organization with dozens of members who contribute to the fun, festive and celebratory culture of the City of Gainesville through events and classes all year round.

(AFTER PERFORMANCE: 20-30 minutes)

Special thanks to our wonderful pre-parade entertainment! We've been fortunate to have Smooth Flava dancing here, under the instruction of Wanda Lloyd.

We're happy you could join us for the second annual A Very GNV Holiday Parade. We're thrilled to have 120 participants in this parade, and especially excited that global superstar Shaquille O'Neal is here as our grand marshal.

As you may know, the parade starts at West University Avenue and 6th Street and travels approximately one mile, to end at the Alachua County Public Schools Administration Building at 620 East University Avenue.

We wish to thank the generous sponsors who made this day possible. This is a parade for the community by the community. We are most grateful to our Platinum Level Sponsors, Cox Communications and UF Health. And to our Gold Level sponsors: the Collier Companies, the Community Foundation of North Central Florida, GFL Environmental, Pavlov Media, Monterey Boats, Morgan & Morgan, Santa Fe College and Viking Property Management. You'll also see some of them appearing in the parade.

And we have to give an enormous shout out to the Gainesville City Commission, particularly Mayor Pro-Tem Cynthia Moore Chestnut, who proposed this parade and has been its champion, guiding the planning and fundraising—and the day has finally arrived.

Here is A Very GNV Holiday Parade!

The City of Gainesville Police Department leads A Very GNV Holiday Parade with an appearance by officers of the motorcycle unit. They are joined by members of the Alachua County Sheriff's Office, the City of Alachua and the City of High Springs.

The Eastside High School Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps marches as the parade color guard. Please stand for the Presentation of the Colors.

Grand Marshal Shaquille O'Neal is a 4-time NBA champion who was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in 2016. He is among the most famous basketball players in all the world, a global superstar, and a musician who has released four albums and is currently a touring DJ. Back in 2016, O'Neal surprised a group of neighborhood children in our community by playing street basketball alongside Gainesville Police Department Officer Bobby White. "It's always good to be in Gainesville,” Shaq has said. “The street game with those kids really stuck with me. It’s all about building friendships and bringing people together. I’m happy to come back, see old friends, and help the City of Gainesville bring holiday cheer with a community parade.”

Gainesville’s Youth Steering Committee advises the City on important issues facing young people. The members first gathered for One Nation One Project, part of a nationwide initiative to improve youth wellbeing through culture and the arts. Gainesville’s focus was on reducing gun violence, and with input from these young leaders the City funded 29 programs, 85 artists and organizations, and involved 3,605 youth participants.

The City of Gainesville has created a winter wonderland for A Very GNV Holiday Float. Riding the float is our very own Gainesville Mayor Harvey Ward. He is joined by the University of Florida mascots Albert and Alberta and Santa Fe College mascot Caesar the St. Bernard. High atop and playing the sax is Emmanuel Garilus, winner of the City’s One Nation One Project Apollo Theater Talent Search and a finalist at Amateur Night at the Apollo.

The Gainesville Mayor and City Commissioners are committed to bettering the quality of life for all neighbors. Our City Commissioners are: Gainesville Mayor Harvey Ward, Mayor Pro-Tem and At-Large Commissioner Cynthia Chestnut, At-Large Commissioner Reina Saco, District 1 Commissioner Desmon Duncan-Walker, District 2 Commissioner Ed Book, District 3 Commissioner Casey Willits and District 4 Commissioner Bryan Eastman. Beginning in January, Commissioner-elect James Ingle will take over the Commissioner At-large, Seat A.

The Urban Yachting Club has a holiday rhyme: He was a mean one – Mr. Grinch, but he had a change of heart. He heard about the Holiday Parade, and now he's taking part. The Grinch joined the Urban Yachting Club, which really made things happen. He formed a crew of Max and Cindy Lou Who, and he made himself the Captain. He won't steal your tree or take your roast beast, but a green pirate he is now. So I think some good advice is—best not to cross his bow.
